WISCONSIN.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM.]

MADISON, Wis., July 20.—[Special.]—The election of Mr. J. B. Cassidy, a highly esteemed resident of this city for many years, over Lucius Fairchild, by a majority of 1,000 over the latter, is a surprise to the entire community. It was the universal opinion that Fairchild would be elected by a large majority. The physicians of Madison regretted the privilege of anti-morning quarantine. It was present, and the cause of such denial is to be "Fugitives cannot," or Fugitive Slave Law. The last both the county and superior courts convened to-day and could be compelled to be ready as a matter of evidence could be created in the case, the legal case being about the same conclusion as a case of assault.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM.]

LA CROSSE, Wis., July 20.—[Special.]—Very early this morning William Lacy, a porter of the Sir Hotel here, was fatally stabbed while walking on the street. He was under the influence of liquor and the man wishes to charge him with stealing one has attempted to prove that he was innocent. The affair is shrouded in mystery. It is one of numerous affairs that come from a certain set of rough and tumble people congregated in a high place.

THE RAILROADS.

The Burlington to Extend Its Line from Denver West Through Colorado.

The Denver Tribune states that the Burlington has finally determined to extend its line from Denver west, and that certain heavy railroad contractors and have arrived in Colorado to build through the mountains of Colorado. The matter, the Tribune says, is being kept quiet, but enough is known to say that a large force of laborers will be brought to Colorado and work upon the proposed road in a few days. It is reported that the work will be completed within a year. Those engineers of the road in the most preliminary action to show what obstacles obstruct the projected line, but say that the work must not be built or even be projected. It is known, however, that the work has a Burlington connection in view, reaching, it would seem, Grand Junction, and to connect with the Denver & Rio Grande Railway, and a track will be laid as rapidly.

The reports that the extension was planned and that the road would be completed to Denver this year have been denied by officials of the Burlington & Missouri at the last annual meeting of the Colorado Central Company, which controls the Denver & Boulder Valley road, a meeting of the Colorado Central Company was held in Denver, and it was decided to extend the road to Boulder. United States Capital in Railways to Control Commerce.

NEW YORK, June 20. The completion of the Central Southern Pacific Railway from the coast to Shreveport (the crossing point) has practically succeeded to rule. The road has been built by United States capitalists, I upon existing concessions, over a liberal subsidy and legislative bonus, an advance of 1,000 feet in crossing, passing through some of the most magnificent land, grain, mountains, and gold mines in the world. The capital has not been taken from Europe, as representatives, private shareholders, mechanics, agricultural lands of Texas, and a delegation of men. The cities of Louisiana, Little Rock, Memphis, Cairo, and Chicago, and Paris, 1,000, are passed through on the line. A handsome and magnificent [illegible] from here and the [illegible] Chicago is assured, as the building of the road runs along the [illegible] Chicago, the Central Southern Pacific Railway, and the Central Southern Pacific Railway, for a single division of about 1,000 miles, and would be built by means of purchasing land [illegible] other elements of the road will have [illegible] to that section.

When they relish their history they will be in a position to appreciate what they have been so prominent in denouncing. Read and learn.

Distressed and Depraved Before They Have Seen the Light of Day—Children Born to a Life of Misery.

Brought into This World Unwelcomed and Unloved, and Left to a Round of Desolate to Infamous Womanhood.

Special Correspondence Philadelphia Press. I started one midnight on a tour of investigation, with a number of advertisements in my notebook, and living like "Tennyson" despondent of a daily newspaper. The first of these read as follows:

[illegible]

This place proved to be a large unpretending brown-stone front, the basement locked and fastened as for bankruptcy, though on entering the basement stood signs of occupancy and work. All not seen answered my knock at the door, but aroused something within for me not to go by me. While the door partially threw me ground on the mat a young lady in a calico dress, who answered my question by inviting me to be taken a talk.

"Please which is that you advertise?" I asked, after seating myself on a rickety cane chair.

"Please which is it? Is it the one you don't you guess was to advertise that? About six, as it's the child of that people, and the greatest beauty you ever set eyes on; but it was taken away by a cab lady yesterday. Some poor fool, there seem more anyon after that young one, but you wouldn't be disappointed, it's have any as those ones we have your people, and you can have your pick. Though, if I do say it, it don't seem one get hold of such a little gem as this one way, with its big blue eyes, skin as soft as satin and white as milk, and curling away all the time like little angel it was."

MORE THAN ORDINARY IN DEATH.

"Does the man get hold of these babies?"

"Oh, you see, I came in before who will engaging them, and it is to the agreement that I put the children out of the way."

"Out of the way?"

"Don't be scared. By putting them out of the way I mean finding people who want to adopt them. You didn't suppose the parents got them that they are given up, but deserted the others and the law don't enable us place for 'em, and that's causing trouble a big sometimes. Why, I've had young ladies down from the first families in this city, besides those from Philadelphia, Boston, Chicago, and other places, who are supposed to be orphans' there friends. Of course, I always make 'em give me the full names and address of a third party to send anything most wrong. If I didn't I should get in a fight for every baby."

"How do those ladies find their way here?"

"Somebody knows who ought to be their husbands bring 'em, and you that way, which is all the way from $10 to $50. Those women don't know the answer always, but some shop-girls what have to go to the refugee or homes, but those that access have been themselves or most English and access to their products, they that are mighty different. Some are simply inexperienced by fear of shame and disgrace, and think they can never hold up their heads again, whether they are found out or not. Those is the kind that have to give me more babies, but there's others that take it very easy enough. All they want is for it not to get out. They don't bother themselves about the poor little mother that must look on some one afterwards, and that will laugh and make love as soon, and doesn't care a pin for anything but sure good time."

HOW THEY ENJOY AFTER IT COMES.

"Are they ever out at this end?"

"Oh, I have seen the time when I have had for the trouble they have brought on poor girls—married ones, too. Some of 'em don't couldn't keep them afterwards, and then we are you see the honest little wife a visit to the women that would starve or give it up. Now, there's that beautiful boy that was took away yesterday. He have accomplish what for his poor mother. You see she was sent to me by a well-known doctor. Such a lovely young woman you never saw. She had a rose-shaped figure, and you'd have screamed how my heart ached when I was undress and her sweet eyes—poor creature! Many more in the world as dark Christmas eve. Her face was there, and looking just like mother as she never said she'd give it back. She have seen it, but I've got it now, and I'll keep it for a good while. I've had it for three days, and I'm sure I've had more than a dozen offers for it. Some of 'em are real rich people, too, and I'm going to have it to-day. I'll have no more trouble with it after that. I've got a good home for it. What more can it have only its mother's love? Why, I've had as many as three in a week, and I've got a dozen now. I've got a dozen in my house now, and I'm going to get rid of 'em all to-day. I'll have no more trouble with 'em

The Social Evil in Boston—How the Million Boys Should Wheelbarrow Matters.

Boston, July 31.—[Special Correspondence.] This week's Blaine and Logan ratification meeting in Tremont Temple and the Boston Rink was a significant understanding of the statement that Massachusetts is still solidly the sentiment of the Chicago Convention. Hardly in the limits of the Independent party could be found a man who would not be willing to vote for the Republican ticket, and there were few Democrats to be found who would not be willing to vote for the party ticket. Republicans stepped into the party ticket from time to time as they felt like it, and when the meeting was over it would not be safe to guarantee the party ticket would not have a majority of the Republicans in it. Chairman Lodge said there was not much room for doubt in the minds of the people that a pro-Union man, Blaine, would be elected, and that the only question was as to the size of the majority. Ex-Governor Andrew presided over the overflow of the Temple meeting, and was assigned to go over to the Rink to preside over the meeting there. Ex-Governor Talbot, Hon. Henry Wilson, Hon. THE ELECTORAL COMMISSION.

The Electoral Fraud Scheme Declared—The Truth of History Vindicated.

The Democratic Republic for the Creation of the Commission Its Result.

Chicago, Ill., July 20.—Editor of The Tribune: I published yesterday the Democratic State Convention held in Chicago and the result in the nomination of leading candidates of party being completed, I printed a circular for each State Ticket and Executive Committee elected by the act of Congress of Jan. 29, 1877.

The history of the creation of that extraordinary power is contained in the fact that the Republican party in that State having a large majority in the House of Representatives and knowing that a majority could not elect their Governor and Electors, they set to work to devise some scheme or expedient that would take the choice from the majority of the people and place it in the hands of a tribunal that would give them an equal or a majority chance to secure the election of Governor and Electors. I have made this article, not as a history, but as a letter as I have it in my power to give a sketch of the creation of that commission that gave to this Democratic Administration and party to which the country looks for relief from the present misrule of the Republican party. The Democratic party in the State of New York, the country, and the Democratic Administration of Grover Cleveland, owe to the agency of corruption, which has been so long practiced by the Republican party, and which was brought to the surface by the Democratic Governor of New York, Hon. Samuel J. Tilden, and which was the means of defeating the Democratic party in the Presidential election of 1876, and which has been the means of keeping the Republican party in power for the last eight years, and which has been the means of the present Democratic Administration coming into power.
